

Kyoung-Woong Kim received his Ph.D. from the Imperial College London in the U.K.. He is a Professor of Environmental Geochemistry at School of Earth Sciences and Environmental Engineering since 1997 and has been a Dean of International and Public Affairs at Gwangju Institute of Science and Technology (GIST) in Republic of Korea. His research interests are environmental monitoring and risk assessment, and the remediation of contaminated soil and groundwater. Prof. Kim has got more than 200 papers at the international SCI journal and is currently member of editorial board at several international journals including Scientific Reports and Environ. Geochem. & Health.

- E-mail: kwkim@gist.ac.kr