

Crinamide in functional food

Crinamide is extracted from Crinum latifolium. Crinamide is effective against uterine fibroids, prostate cancer, uterine cancer, prostate cancer, stomach, lung, liver; Anti-inflammatory, boosts immunity.

Crinamide is used in the functional foods to support the treatment of uterine fibroids and prostate enlargement.

To support laboratories to assess the capacity of testing crinamide content in functional foods, NIFC provides a proficiency testing program to determine crinamide content in functional foods.

Fee: 2,500,000 VNĐ

Time schedule: 09/2022

Interested laboratory, click Register for participating.