

BIODATA

NGUYEN THI ANH HUONG, PhD, Associate Professor in Analytical Chemistry, is a lecturer at Faculty of Chemistry, University of Science, Vietnam National University, Hanoi. She received B.Sc. (1998), M.Sc. (2002) and PhD. (2010) degrees in Analytical Chemistry at University of Science, Vietnam National University, Hanoi. She spent more than 15 years working in laboratory and 11 years teaching in the field of analytical chemistry, including for food control. She is one of the editor members of a book in Vietnamese about application of electrophoresis method for food control. She is now a guest editor of Special Issue “Green Analytical Methods and Nanomaterials for Sample Preparation” - Journal of Analytical Methods in Chemistry (ISI, Q2, IF 2.594) and a member of editor board for the Vietnam Journal of Food Control. She has published over 35 papers in ISI/Scopus journals, over 80 papers in national journals, and over 30 symposium/conference presentations, with total citations of about 620 and h-index = 14.

