

BIODATA

MSc. Ta Thi Yen, researcher of Food Microbiology and Genetically Modified Food, National Institute for Food Control. She achieved Master's degree in Biology from Graduate University of Science and Technology in 2020. She is an expert in microbiology. She conducted various microorganisms, builds procedure and guideline for Microbiological laboratory, analyzes result of testing. Furthermore, she also implements molecular technique at laboratory for enumeration or identification of probiotics and pathogens as well.

