

Miss Wanida Mukkana

Technical Service Manager

Wanida is currently the technical service manager at Neogen Asia (Thailand) Limited. In this role, she keeps abreast emerging trends, regulations and industry best practices to help support the local industry while also providing expert support for Neogen’s portfolio of food safety products. She has previously worked in commercial food microbiology laboratories and has experience in ISO/IEC 17025 laboratory accreditation. She has also worked with government regulators and industry bodies such as the Thailand Department of Livestock Development and AOAC Thailand section to improve food safety outcomes.

Wanida received her Bachelor of science (Microbiology) in 2004 and a Master of Business Administration (MBA) in 2016.

