

Bio

Paul is currently a Director of Regulatory Affairs at Abbott Nutrition where is responsible for a team supporting all aspects of product innovation. As a board-certified toxicologist, Paul has coordinated the submission of novel food petitions to multiple regulatory agencies and has co-authored several papers on food risk assessment. He participates in multiple trade associations and currently serves as the president of the Association for Sustainable Food Safety (ASFS) and the chair of the Food Safety Working Group of the International Special Dietary Foods Industries (ISDI).